Application Guidelines

A student may pursue areas of interest not available through regular course offerings as listed in the Grove City College Bulletin by registering for an independent study (260, 360, 460) or independent research (270, 370, 470) course in the department of choice, provided a faculty sponsor is available and the study experience is approved by the appropriate Department Chair, Academic Advisor and the Registrar's Office.

The following policies apply:

- A maximum of six hours of independent study, independent research, or honors courses combined may count within the 128 hours required for graduation (course numbers 260, 270, 360, 370, 460, 470, 498, and 499). A maximum of six additional hours of independent study/research/honors courses may be taken beyond the 128 hours required for graduation, but these hours may not count toward any requirement for graduation.

- Independent study and research must be completed on campus; however, an off-campus course may be approved but only when done in conjunction with an approved internship program.

- No more than two independent study, research, or honors courses may be taken by a student during a single academic year.

- Independent study, research, and honors courses may not substitute for required courses in the general education, major, minor, certification or concentration areas.

- The established time involved for each credit hour awarded should be equal to fifteen hours of equivalent in-class time plus a minimum of thirty hours outside preparation time.

- Independent study, research, and honor courses must be added or dropped during the normal semester registration period or during the College's Drop/Add week at the beginning of each semester.

- Students must have sophomore, junior, or senior class standing.

- Individual departments may have minimum CQPA restrictions to qualify for independent work.

- Faculty may supervise a total of nine credit hours of independent experiences and/or five students each semester; therefore, not all requests will be approved.

Registration Process:

- A student should first work with a faculty sponsor to design an appropriate program of study. All requirements for the experience must be outlined in the course syllabus. The faculty sponsor will show his/her approval of the study by signing the application.

- The application and completed course syllabus will next be reviewed by the appropriate Chair of the Department in which the proposed study will occur and then by the student's academic advisor. The study form and syllabus will then be submitted to the Registrar's office for final review. Students will not be enrolled in the class until this form has been approved by the Registrar's Office.
